

HIS HEART BROKEN SINCE HE'S JILTED BY HELENA STALLO

Nils Florman, Grandson of Swedish Count, Can't Explain Broken Engagement.

NOT HER LOST FORTUNE:

Nor Is Rumor of His Affection for Katherine Force at All True, He Protests.

Nils Florman, the young grandson of wealthy Admiral Count Bonde of Sweden, some of whose remote ancestors were of the blood royal, declared almost tearfully today that his heart was broken over the action of Miss Helena Stallo in jilting him.

With many emotional gestures he proclaimed that his love for Miss Stallo would never die, that it mattered not a jot that the fortune of her grandfather, Alexander S. McDonald, had dwindled from $20,000,000 to $500,000, and that the report that he had switched his affections from Miss Stallo to Miss Katherine Force was a base fabrication.

The jilting occurred a month ago, whereupon the society gossip began flooding the market with rumors. One report was that the good looking young man had left his fiancée for Miss Force, sister of the new Mrs. John Jacob Astor.

LOSS OF FORTUNE GIVEN AS ANOTHER THEORY.

Another explanation of the broken engagement had it that the parting door of Alexander McDonald's millions to a few hundred thousand dollars had shot the young aristocrat's affections with awe, and finally there was the theory that Miss Stallo had been outraged to learn that her intended's father had been employed as a man-servant in this city after his wife, the

With all this gossip drumming in his ears, young Florman remained silent until today, when at his private place of residence, the Hotel Chatham, he set free a tale of woe, in which he pictured himself as the wronged suitor, the jilted lover, left in the dark as to the cause of the jilting.

"I still love Miss Stallo with all my heart," he cried. "What has come between us I don't know. The news came upon me like a thunderbolt. My love had not waned. When we last parted there was only affection on both sides. There were no reproaches, no charges, absolutely nothing."

LETTER GAVE NO EXPLANATION FOR JILTING.

"Then came the letter, announcing that all was an end, just that. No explanation. I saw Mr. McDonald K. Stallo. He could tell me nothing. He sympathized with me. I have his esteem. He has faith in me. He promised he would do what he could."

"As far as Miss Stallo's fortune is concerned, how could that make any difference with me, when I loved her only for herself? I care nothing for any money she may have now or that may come to her in the future. Financial matters have never been mentioned in our courtship. These reports about the McDonald fortune are not news to me. I have known of the situation all along."

"Now as for these stories that have connected my name with the name of Miss Katherine Force. They are cruel, utterly without basis. I have known the Force family for several years. I met them abroad. We were good friends, but that was all. They are charming people and were very kind to me. It is a great mistake to say that I was in love with Miss Force, as well as to Miss Stallo, to spread this rumor. During the summer just past I saw a good deal of the Force family. I also met Mr. Astor and he was kind enough to invite me aboard the Nomad."

HE NEVER TRIED TO HIDE ANYTHING ABOUT FAMILY.

"Now, there is this other report which says that when Miss Stallo discovered that my father conducted a man-servant in this city she was so shocked at the discovery that she jilted me. That is as ridiculous as all the other rumors. I have never attempted to conceal anything concerning my family. My father has never been or done anything of which I am ashamed. He was in business here and I saw him frequently. He has been away two years. It is true that he was divorced. That was because he and my mother were not congenial. That is all I can say. Two months of my mother's life was broken is still as great to me as to the general public. But I have not lost all hope."

Young Florman's father, Gustav Florman, was a Lieutenant in the Swedish army when he married the daughter of Admiral Count Bonde, an immensely wealthy Swedish nobleman. After the couple separated, the young Countess returned to her father's home with her three children.

A brother of Nils Florman is now an officer in the Royal Landwehr of the Swedish army. A sister married Count Bernadotte. Nils was sent over here by his grandfather to learn finance, and is now employed in the Gardner Trust Company.

Earthquake in Ecuador.

QIAXAGUAY, Ecuador, Oct. 4.—A slight earthquake was felt here Tuesday. The movement was more pronounced at Guaranda and Rio Hama, where panics were caused.

Harris service is dependable

For fifteen years we have been developing an organization which is as near perfection as human ingenuity and close application to business can make it.

"Harris Eyeglass Service" does not consist of making a "sale." It means to fit you with eyeglasses made to your special need from a prescription written after a careful examination of your eyes by our expert Oculists (registered physicians). This prescription is carefully followed by the grinders of the lenses. Then the glasses are mounted and adjusted by opticians of long experience and recognized skill.

See how the Harris service benefits not only your eyes but your pocketbook. Glasses for $2.00, $3.00 or $5.00.

WANTS TO KISS JUDGE WHEN SHE GETS DECREE.

Court Says Husband Can See
Child Once a Week.

Regardless of a father's violation of his marriage vows, he is entitled to see his child at least once a week, declared Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum today, after indicating he will grant a decree of divorce to Mrs. Felicia E. Just from Gustav Lincoln Just. He is a prominent member of the Hederikranz and Secretary of Construction for New York and Company.

After the court had granted Mrs. Just $20 a week alimony, Just's lawyer asked that he be permitted to see the child, Phoebe Marie Just, and also that $2 a week be deducted to pay premiums on insurance on Mr. Just's life in favor of the child.

"I'll listen to no such a request," stated Justice Greenbaum, angrily. "If this father cares no more for his baby than to ask that its mother pay premiums on a policy in its favor on his life, he is not worthy of much consideration."

"As for seeing his child, that is different. He or any father is entitled to this. It may serve to bring a repentant parent to his senses some day. Child frequently accomplishes great good this way."

The couple were married twenty years ago. Just abandoned his wife, who bore, early this year in favor of another woman. She went with him in the ship after the case was closed and exclaimed:

"Oh, I could kiss the Judge, he was so considerate and good."

Boy Drowns From Barge.

While playing on a barge anchored in Gowanus Canal yesterday afternoon Edward Butler, seven, of No. 49 Court street, Brooklyn, fell over the side and was drowned despite the efforts of his companions to rescue him.
